•Jens Schovsbo was born in 1965 and is professor of intellectual property law (IPR) at the Centre for Information and Innovation Law (CIIR) (www.ciir.dk/English). He is the author or co-author of several monographs on IPR and has published extensively in Danish, Scandinavian, and international law journals primarily on IPR. His ph.d.-thesis from 1996 dealt with IPR and competition law and his doctoral thesis from 2001 with IPR and contract law. He has taught at a number of foreign universities including universities in Scandinavia, China (Renmin and Shang Dong), France (CEIPI), and the U.S. (University of San Diego). He was a visiting professor at the University of San Diego, School of Law in 2008/2009 where he is now an external member of the faculty. He is a member of the Danish and Domain Name Panel and the Danish Board of Appeal for patents, trademarks and designs. He is a member of the board of the Danish Association for the Protection of Industrial Property Rights (AIPPI) and has been the chairman of the Practice Committee for Good Scientific Conduct at the University of Copenhagen. He is President of the International Association for the Advancement of Teaching and Research in Intellectual Property (ATRIP) (2019 - 2021). He is also a member of the Scientific Advisory Board for the Max Planck Institute for Innovation and Competition in Munich and of the editorial board of Tidsskrift for Rettsvitenskap. In his recent research he focuses on general aspects of international IPR and on the relationship between IPR and competition law.
